Description of Procedure or Service

An ambulance is a specially equipped vehicle designed and supplied with materials and devices to provide life-saving and supportive treatments or interventions during the transportation of ill or injured patients. The patient's clinical condition is such that the use of any other method of transportation would be contraindicated.

The vehicle must be designed and equipped to respond to medical emergencies and, in non-emergency situations, be capable of transporting individuals with acute medical conditions.

Ambulance and medical transport services may involve ground, air or sea transport in both emergency and non-emergency situations.

Policy

BCBSNC will provide coverage for Ambulance and Medical Transport Services when they are determined to be medically necessary because the medical criteria and guidelines shown below are met.

Benefits Application

This medical policy relates only to the services or supplies described herein. Please refer to the Member's Benefit Booklet for availability of benefits. Member's benefits may vary according to benefit design; therefore member benefit language should be reviewed before applying the terms of this medical policy.

1. Ground emergency ambulance service for the transport of a patient is considered medically necessary when all the following criteria are met:
 - a. The ambulance must be equipped with appropriate emergency and medical supplies and equipment;
 - b. The patient's condition must be such that any other form of transportation would be medically contraindicated;
 - c. The patient must be transported to the nearest hospital with the appropriate facilities for the treatment of the patient's illness or injury.
2. Non-emergency medical transport services for the transport of a hospital inpatient to another facility for specialized services are considered eligible for coverage when all of the following criteria are met:
 - a. The patient is a registered inpatient in an acute care hospital;

Ambulance and Medical Transport Services

- b. The specialized services are not available in the hospital in which the patient is registered, and those specialized services are considered reasonable, medically necessary, and covered under the members benefit plan;
 - c. The provider of the specialized services is the nearest one with the required capabilities.
3. Air or Sea Ambulance services may be medically necessary in exceptional circumstances. All of the criteria pertaining to ground transportation must be met, as well as one of the following additional conditions:
 - a. The patient's medical condition must require immediate and rapid ambulance transport to the nearest appropriate medical facility that could not have been provided by land ambulance;
 - b. The point of pick-up is inaccessible by land vehicle;
 - c. Great distances, limited time frames, or other obstacles are involved in getting the patient to the nearest hospital with appropriate facilities for treatment;
 - d. The patient's condition is such that the time needed to transport a patient by land to the nearest appropriate medical facility poses a threat to the patient's health.
4. Ambulance or medical transport services are considered eligible for coverage if the patient is legally pronounced dead after the ambulance was called, but before pickup, or enroute to the hospital.
5. Transportation from a hospital, skilled nursing facility or rehabilitation facility to a patient's residence when the patient's condition requires skilled monitoring during transport with the services of an EMT attendant or other licensed healthcare practitioner.

When Ambulance and Medical Transport Services are not covered

1. When the medical guidelines shown above are not met;
2. If the patient is legally pronounced dead before the ambulance is called, the services are not considered medically necessary.
3. Transportation provided primarily for the convenience of the patient, patient's family or physician is not covered.
4. Transportation for the purpose of receiving a service considered NOT medically necessary is also considered NOT medically necessary, even if the destination is an appropriate facility.

Policy Guidelines

Ambulance and medical transport services are regulated by local, state and federal laws. The ambulance and medical transport services should be operated according to all applicable laws and must have all the appropriate, valid licenses and permits.

Reusable devices are considered an integral part of the general ambulance and medical transport services and are not eligible for coverage as separate services.

Unusual ambulance and medical transport services, such as advanced life support charges, and those situations involving air or sea transport should be reviewed by individual consideration.

Services solely for the convenience of the insured, the insured's family or the provider are not covered. For medically necessary services, the Plan may compare the cost-effectiveness of alternative services or supplies when determining which of the services or supplies will be covered.

It is not within generally accepted standards of medical care in the community to transfer a patient great distances for the provision of care that may be rendered locally.

Ambulance and Medical Transport Services

BCBSNC does not cover services that are not medically necessary and will not reimburse for any services, procedures, drugs or supplies associated with those not medically necessary services. See also corporate medical policy titled, "Medical Necessity."
